Tim QUARANTEE ACCESSION GONG 1870 CONGRESS.—James Wall, the democratic candidate for Congress in the cond district of New Jersey, in his letter accepting the momination, says:—

More especially do I approve of those resolutions referring to the necessity of appropriations for the protection of life and property on our Atlantic seaboard, and the prevention of any infringement upon the rights of this State in the cession of any portion of Sandy Hook by the general government to the State of New York, for the purpose of erecting pest houses upon or near our shores. I have for the last two yoars aided the efforts of the citizens of Monmouth in resisting, before the Legislature, the insidious attempts of our powerful neighbor to influence our legislation upon this subject, and two years ago had the pleasure of drafting the stringent not now upon our statute book for protecting the counties of Monmouth and Middlesex from infection and the spread of contagious diseases. My dovotion to the interests of New Jersey and a zealous regard for her rights would ever constrain me to contend energetically against all such encroachments upon or near her soit, threatening the public health, or operating to the serious detriment or the vested rights of her citizens.

last epistic written to the Chairman of the New York delegation in the nominating convention —

New Youx, Sept. 15, 1838.

In view of the result of the late Republican State Convention I beg to offer to you, and through you to all the delegates from this city, my warmest acknowledgements for the undivided support given me from first to last in and out of the Convention. I shall remember it as among the most pleasant recollections of personal and political action. But I deem the vote of our delegates upon that occasion of more importance, as manifesting their warm and decided interest in the public works of the State. The completion of the Eric canal, vastly important as we believe it to be to this city and State, in all probability will be hastened, if not secured, from the unanimity of thirty-four delegates from this city, not upon my nomination alone, but upon that of every candidate upon our ticket. The two gentlemen who will become members of the Canal Board (Mr. Campbell and Judge Garaner) are earnest advocates of the measure, and they, acting with the friends now in the Board and speedy. Then, and tuen only, will the city and the State rejoice in the full fruition of business, of which we have long enjoyed a rich forcastle. For such a consummation I have labored and hoped for many years. When the Eric canal shall have been completed, and steam successfully applied in its navigation, to lis will be so reduced, and transportation so cheapened, that the produce of the West, now including its way to other markets in large quantities, will be landed and distributed at car wharves. Then our mechanics, manufacturerers, laborers and householders will procure the necessaries of life at a reduced cost, and our charts will again spread their canvass for the purpose of supplying other countries with the surplus products of our own. These are some of the results to follow the completion of the Estic canal, and their canvass for the purpose of supplying other countries with the surpius products of our gwn. These are some of the results to follow the completion of the Eric canal, and I am gratified that New York "voted solid" in the Convention for candidates, all of whom are warmly for it. Not often have the city representatives harmonized with other portions of the State in conventions; and hence the secont action of our delegates is the more gratifying. Fraterical facility and concurrent action between New York and other portions of the State is the dictate of patriotism. What is for the interest of one is generally for the interest of all portions of the commonwealth. May the unanimity so assigniously exhibited at Syracuse toward the completion of the canals be continued, and may the great interests of all portions of the State, which are alike the interests of all portions of the State, which are alike the interests of all portions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the interests of all protions of the State, which are alike the state of the stat

PARTICULARS—INSURANCES, ETC.

The fire in Renwick street on Saturday night turned out to be less destructive than at first anticipated this circumstance may be justly attributed to the energy and good management of Engineer Cregior, and his valuable assistants, in heading off the fire in time to save the large buildings fronting on Hudson street. The Fire liarshal was yesterday again on the premises investigating the origin of the fire. We learn from that officer hat in all probability it was caused by sparks from the furnace getting among the shavings. It seems there was a kind of funnel or covered well hole, which there was a kind of funnel or covered well hole, which extended from the sixth story to the basement, through which the shavings were thrown from each story for the engineer to burn. The bottom part of this well-hole was brick to the first floor. It was located on the south side, and about the middle of the building. It is believed that sparks of fire found their way amongst these shavings, in some accidental manner, and there smoldered until they burst into fire. The flames then extended up the well hole and so communicated fire to each story. No fire nor stoves are used in the factory; the heat required was supplied by steam-pipes throughout the premises. Long previous to the commencement of the services the beautiful and commodious church was filled in all parts. Chairs, benches, &c., were placed along the sisles, but proved insufficient to accommodate the visitors. After the usual services Dr. De Witt announced that they had that evening to bid farewell to the following gentlemen, who would leave this fall for the scene of their missionary labors:—Messrs. Ostrom and Expalye to Amoy, China; Messrs. Mayon and W. W. Soudder to Aroot, India. Mr. Soudder has been out before, but the other gentlemen have just passed their examination. Mr. Ostrom addressed the congregation in a lengthened speech, in which he alluded to the sufferings and trials of our Saviour, and contended that the missionary had also to go through great dangers and deprivations in the course of his labors. Mr. Rapalye followed and delivered an impressive address on the want of missionaries in China, and called upon the congregation to sympathise with them and give them all the aid in their power to promote God's cause. Mr. Mayon and Mr. Seudder spoke at sevae length on the state of India and the want there existed for missionaries in that part of the world, to disseminate the Bible and bring the heatten into the way of truth. After bidding farewell to the meeting, the gentlemen retired.

The Queen of the American seasons never appeared to better advantage, nor was entitled to more universal bomage. Counsel for the defendant argued that he was not charged in the indictment with defrauding any insurance company, and therefore the jury could not convict him of that offence, although he might have been indicted for arson in the third degree. He (the counsel) claimed that satisfactory proof was given of the utter impossibility of the defendant having perpetrated the act, for he was not accidental, and having perpetrated the act, for he was not accidental, but somebody other than the accused committed the act. The Assistant District Attorney followed, summing up the facts in a succinct manner, maintaining that the law permitted the jury to convict of any degree of arson named in the statute. After dwelling eloquently upon the helinousness of the crime of arson, he said that the evidence warranted him in saying that the prisoner made the preparations for burning before he went to visit Mr. Bayar in the afternoon, for Mr. Jeffries proved that about one o'clock he saw a man in the prisoner's room moving about in his shirt sleeves. "Who was that man?" asked the District Attorney. Didden admitted he was there at about that hour. If it were a stranger, would he move about desiberately in his shirt sleeves, and thus disregard the liability to be detected? The simple fact that the camplene bottle, which was found in his closet was aufficient to fasten the guilt upon the prisoner, for it was an instinctive act of a person in the habit of using the closet. Eleven monilis ago the defendant endeavored to dispose of his stock of boots and shoes to Mr. Ferris, in Nassau street, at a low figure, while he was insured for $800. All the circumstances of the firing showed that Didien, and no other person, had a motive for perpetrating the crime with which he was charged. In conclusion, Mr. Sedgwick insisted that the attempt of the defence to prove an albit was a failure.

Judge Russell, in a lucid manner, charged the jury, observing that the defendant, Francis Didien, was charged with the crime of arson, which was an offence casy

SHEEWD FINANCIERING BROUGHT TO LIGHT.-Edward S Latham, of Scheca Falls, New York, appeared before Justice Welsh, at the Mayor's office, on Saturday, and made a complaint against Walter Bryant, Caleb S. Woodhull Stephen M. Allen and Daniel D. Badger for perjury. The Stephen M. Alien and Daniel D. Bladger for perjury. The complainant in his affidavit sets forth that on the 19th of March, 1865, the above names! parties, and others whose names are not mentioned, incorporated themselves as the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Company, (with a capital of $600,000 in $100 shares) for chemical and manufacturing purposes: on the 26th of April following they appeared before John J. Latting, Commissioner of Deeds in this city, and made afficient that all the capital had been paid in, and field a certificate of the same with the Clerk of Niagara county, and that such deposition was false, the capital never having been paid in, but that a box containing $100,000 was taken to the office of the company and formally deposited five times, and then with its contents carries away altogether. Justice Welsh on examining the papers declared that by the statute of limitations the accused were freed from prosecution, and could not, therefore, be arrested. In the case of Mr. Allen, however, the magistrate granted a warrant, insamuch as that gouldenan was a resident of another State, and not therefore protected by the statute of limitations. Mr. Allen gave ball in the sum of $3,000 for his future appearance, and then redired from Court, denouncing the whole affair as a piece of falsity and treachery, got up to affect his standing as a man of worth and integrity.

SINGULAR RECOVERY OF STOLEN GOODS .- Between 11 and 12 o'clock on Thursday morning an unknown man entered the lager bier saloon of John Fisher, at No. 26 Spruce street, and asked the proprietor if he could leave his bag-gage there on storage for a few hours. Mr. Fisher accedstreet, and asked the proprietor if he could leave his baggage there on storage for a few hours. Mr. Fisher acceddod to the request; whereupon the unknown brought in three trunks, one hox and one bale, and then took his leave. Soon afterwards he returned to the salcon and carried away one of the trunks, and during the afternoon he called again and took away another of the trunks and the bale, leaving one trunk and a box behind. The movements and general appearance of the stranger made Visher suspicious. In one of the morning newspapers he saw an advertisement calling for the recovery of certain stolen goods, and he came to the conclusion that he had been unknowingly made the receiver of that very property. He at once proceeded to the Second precinct station house and acquainted Inspector Weed with the fact in the case. The Inspector felt convinced that Fisher wa correct in his suspicious. Policemen Wintringham and Reynolds were detailed to work up the case, and in about half an hour they returned with one of the smaller trunks and the box, which on examination was found to be the property of the Rev. Dr. Potts. Word was then sent to the doctor's residence, and the officers were despatched after the balance of the stolen property. They soon found the cartinan who had carried away the goods, and before twive o'clock they ascernained that the other two trunks had been taken to No. 222 William street, where they were found. These contained the most valuable portion of the lost property. They had been breken open and rifled of the contents. On examination is was found that one or two of Mrs. Potts' crosses had been taken out, also some jewelry, including a valuable ring containing four diamonds, which the thief had offered to sell to the propertour of 222 William street for $40. To Proprietors of Newspapers and Printers generally.—The type op which the Harald has been printed was cast at CONNER'S United States Type Foundry, and had, on Saturday's issue, been in use about one year, printing the enormous number of twenty-two millions of sheets, showing conclusively there is vitue in Conner's new hard type metal, and that, notwithstanding the coppering, there must be a substantial foundation in type ere the copper is placed on its face.

The type on which this sheet is printed is from the same foundry.

PADWAY'S REHABILITATING REGULATORS.—RAD—
Way's last and greatest discovery is the Regulating Pill.

This extraordinary remedy not only contains the most invaluable medicinal properties, completely cleaning the system of all unbealthy humors and germs of disease; but, by a newly invested chemical process the most untritious essences are as concentrated and mingled with its other qualifies as to actually shored strength and nourishment at the same time. Slow recoveries from illness are frequently caused by the inability of the patient to take a sufficiency of food. The Regulating Pill, however, while curing disease, imparts vitahity to the blood, a healthy tone to the stomach, and cheerfulness and confidence to the mind. It surpasses, in some disorders, even the wonderful efficacy of the Ready Relief and Renovating Resolvent. R. E.
